The ultimate volcanic island paradise: Montserrat. With 4,500 people on forty square miles, with seventeen times as many rum bars as churches, the worlds highest ratio of police-to-population, with no drinking-and-driving law, and where childhood sexual abuse is made into a sing-song soca rhythm and played over prime-time radio; could it get weirder?? Yes! Listen carefully - you will hear the sounds on scented wind of Sting, Elton John, Paul McCartney, and Eric Clapton, all coming from Sir George Martins Air Montserrat Recording Studios. That is, the music can be heard when the volcano is quiet, or when locals, Brits, Canadians, and the occasional Americans are not whooping it up like rum-fueled banshes gone mad. Can such a place become totally Independent? A Nation unto itself? With, perhaps, a seat at the U.N.? Possibly, plausibly, feasibly - perhaps, maybe, sorta, likely ... so read on, and find out the truth.
