

Our everyday life is filled with an abundance of products, most of which are packaged. Packages are everywhere and right next to you. There are many aspects in the world of design, but none is closer to you than package design. JPDA has made biennial awards for outstanding work since 1985. This competition gives an opportunity for package designers to have the true value of their products assessed through various aspects such as design quality and creativity. This book showcases all the award-winning designs throughout lavishly illustrated pages.
